

MICRO2020

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

23-27 NOVEMBER 2020 LANZAROTE AND BEYOND*

FATE AND IMPACTS OF MICROPLASTICS: KNOWLEDGE AND RESPONSIBILITIES

Given the current uncertainty about the COVID-19 pandemic for this coming November 2020, our biannual international conference will be held during the originally planned dates 23-27 Nov. 2020. It will be substantially online-based with several in-person meeting nodes.*

Building on the work shared during MICRO 2016 and MICRO 2018 we are delighted to invite the scientific community and stakeholders to participate in:

MICRO 2020. Fate and impacts of Microplastics: Knowledge and Responsibilities

THE CALL FOR ABSTRACTS AND SPECIAL SESSIONS IS NOW OPEN FROM JUNE 25TH TO SEPTEMBER 20TH 2020

You are invited to submit abstracts for oral or poster presentations on the following topics:

From MACRO to nano;
Marine Ecosystems;
Freshwater bodies;
Human health;
Social change and behavior;
Policy;
Research Highlights;
Others...

The final conference structure and preliminary programme will be available at the end of September 2020 in order to allow each participant to prepare their teleconference connection with each local node, to give the local nodes themselves time to get ready, and to fine-tune the final programme.

We wish you a stimulating conference preparation process!

SECOND CIRCULAR: CALL FOR ABSTRACTS
