Largest water utility public tenders database now available on the world's largest business exchange for water professionals

Zurich Switzerland – AquaSPE AG from Zurich Switzerland and H2bid of San Diego announced today their collaboration to make the largest public tender database for the U.S. and Canada available on The Water Network.

Effective immediately thousands of public tenders from the U.S. and Canada can be filtered for specific product and service categories and location on the Business Exchange of The Water Network.

"We are excited to make this valuable information available to our members and all suppliers to water utilities in order to help drive innovation in the water sector and help suppliers to find and submit their solutions for open bids," says Trudi Schifter CEO and Founder of AquaSPE who owns and operates The Water Network. "We operate the largest network for global water professionals reaching circa 400,000 professionals in the sector representing over 10,000 organizations," she continues. "After extensive research we chose H2bid as our content partner due to their professionalism, size and scope of their database and their ability to integrate the information in a seamless user-friendly way for our members."

"The industry scope of The Water Network is unparalleled," adds Glenn Oliver, CEO and Co-Founder of H2bid. "The user experience and ability to quickly find bids in a specific area of expertise and geography is critical to identifying leads for suppliers, vendors, and contractors serving water and wastewater utilities. We are excited about this partnership and are supporting The Water Network's members with two free detailed views of specific bids and thereafter a discount for unlimited views."

All companies providing equipment, products, and services to water or wastewater utilities are encouraged to have a look and find new potential clients by going to The Water Network and visiting the Bids & Products section of the Business Exchange – it is free to join and filter for relevant bids.
