Dear ,

17 November 2015

Six years ago we launched www.TheWaterNetwork.com with 200 key areas of water expertise as identified by water and taxonomy experts.

Since then our members have collectively mapped water sector know-how in a structured taxonomy that includes 6,000 terms within 18 main functional areas. This asset is now available to everyone and is crucial to share knowledge in a standardised, automated way.

If you have not already, set your know-how to see how our algorithms work to bring relevant people and content to your attention, please do, I think you will be amazed.

Looking forward to helping you discover people and content of relevance to you.

Kind regards,
